Through deep expertise in Manufacturing, Retail, Wholesale, Distribution, Insurance and Energy we help enterprises assess their capabilities, develop strategies and implement tactics for increasing revenue while adapting to market and regulatory change. MIT's strength is in our people - their expertise of industry and their highly regarded technical skills coupled with the tools necessary to perform high quality Professional Services. We use the latest Business Intelligence and Data Warehousing techniques to help business leaders make sound informed decisions based upon objective factual data.

We created MIT with a core set of values that represent our professional passion and personal convictions:

- Listen to our clients and build our reputation on the value we provide
- Make every job "reference able"; we want our clients to realize their investment in MIT was the best money they ever spent on consultants
- Never compromise our integrity; do the right thing every time
- Build our business based upon truth and intellect

We provide teams and team members whom all have a history of successful project and implementation experience coupled with industry expertise which enables them to provide strong consultation and quality implementations.

Whether yours is a large enterprise, global, regional or local, we can help. Our resources take the time needed to understand your business and define your requirements in order to determine the best road map and solution for you.
